

A wooden barrel, often used as a symbol for the Eucharist, is shown filled with several large, golden-brown loaves of bread. The barrel is made of light-colored wood with metal bands around its circumference. The bread is piled high, spilling slightly over the top edge. The background is a textured, greyish surface.